PREMISE

The International Competition Composition "Armonie dello Stilaro" is an invitation to professional composers from all over the world to write a piece inspired by the Calabrian folk song.

Folk music has deep roots in the secular traditions that have accompanied and still accompany all the moments of our lives.

It is the task of each individual and the community itself to preserve and keep its memory alive.

In the age of technology where it is possible to have real-time news from every corner of the planet and where the watchword is "homologation", the greatest risk is the loss of an entity that sees its origin in tradition and song.

"It is a civil and moral duty of every man to know thoroughly his own popular musical culture." – Zoltan Kodaly
